“ It didn't matter if her hands were hurting or not, she was diligent about her flower bed and her garden. She had the prettiest flowers on the street and had been acknowledged by one of our local organizations and community newspapers.

She was very family oriented and spent a lot of time talking about, visiting and taking care of them. She was an avid churchgoer who would come out on Sunday mornings with a sharp suit, matching shoes and matching hat. Other than Sundays she rarely dressed up but her swag on Sundays was enough to take her through the week. She was the best cook in the neighborhood. I felt special because I often had the opportunity to taste her food, eat her dinners and drool over her cakes.

It's going to be difficult for me to look across the street and not see her in the yard or sitting on her porch. Don't know how I'll get through not being able to sit with her and watch Rachel Maddow or just converse about whatever on her porch. Because she is no longer there my visits with her daughters will be limited. I will miss them just as I'll miss her.

My love, support and sincere condolences go out to her sister, children, grandchildren and her other family members and friends as they navigate the world they will continue to live in without her. She will be missed.

I love you Mrs. Freeman into eternity.
